INDUSTRIAL FINANCE A COMPARISON BETWEEN HOME AND FOREIGN DEVELOPMENTS (CLASSIC REPRINT)

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Industrial Finance a Comparison Between Home and Foreign Developments Industry, also in its concrete application, forms a very broad subject. It is not my task here to-night to deal with all the aspects of industrial development and industrial organisation, these being results of a number of factors and circumstances with which they are closely connected. Legislation, legal technicalities, climatic conditions, geographical situation, traditional usages, constitution of markets, commercial and credit organisation, amongst others, have an important bearing on the industrial evolution in different countries. We shall confine ourselves to an enquiry into the financial problems relating to industries here and abroad in order to show to what degree the organisation of industries is dependent upon the supply and organisation of capital and credit. For large enterprises the financier has always been a necessity. In olden times he has been instrumental in finding the means required by kings and princes for expeditions, warfare, etc.; he has also assisted commercial enterprises when in need of capital. But only since mechanical inventions and technical improvements have placed industries generally on an entirely different basis; since the introduction of machinery, power plants, and modern equipment on a large scale have revolutionised business and industrial methods requiring hitherto unheard-of sums of capital - both fixed and circulating - has the financial element played such an important part in our economic system.
